Shaamar Honey is originated in Shaamar territory of Selengue Province and has been produced on the honey farm run by the Argangat Partnership for more than 20 years. The first honey farm was founded in 1958 with the purpose to set up honey producing technology. The enterprise was privatized in 1998 and nowadays is owned by the Argangat Partnership which comprises of more than 10 small family-based farms. Its natural honey, which is produced by naturally growing flowers in Shaamar territory, has become famous in the Selengue Province. As of today, the honey has begun to be successfully exported to Japan. This is one of best organic products in Mongolia.
